HOUSE WILL NOT VOTE ON ARMED MERCHANTMEN RESOLUTION UNTIL TUES.

BECAUSE OF NUMBERS OF ABSENT MEMBERS "MOMENTOUS QUESTION" WILL BE DELAYED—MOTION TO TABLE McELMORE'S RESOLUTION PROBABLY BE CARRIED.

(By International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, March 4.—The house will not vote on the McElmore resolution warning Americans to keep off armed merchantmen until next Tuesday. The above was definitely decided at a conference between Majority Leader Kitchin, Acting Chairman of the Rules Committee Pou and Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee Flood.

Many members have gone for the week-end believing no important business would be transacted today and the leaders stated it would be unfair to bring up such a momentous question until the return of the absentees. There seems to be little doubt but what a motion to table McElmore's resolution would be carried by an overwhelming majority.

White House Believes Wilson's Hands Free.

The White House today laughed at the suggestion that the vote taken yesterday in the senate was not conclusive and expects the president now to be given a free hand. Officials think as a result of this belief, an amicable agreement will soon be reached with Germany.

Senate Continues Debate.

The senate today continued its acrimonious debate over the international situation. Senator Chamberlain favorably reported the army bill which provides for the United States a military guard of 178,000 men in times of peace and a quarter of a million in war times.

CONRAD ELECTED EXALTED RULER OF DAYTONA ELKS

MEETING LAST EVENING THE MOST LARGELY ATTENDED OF ANY IN THE HISTORY OF DAYTONA LODGE.

At the most largely attended meeting in the history of the Daytona lodge of Elks, held last evening, F. N.

F. N. CONRAD
Who was last night elected Exalted Ruler of Daytona Lodge of Elks.

Conrad, president of the Merchants bank, was elected exalted ruler of the lodge for the ensuing year.

The complete list of officers elected was as follows:

Exalted ruler—F. N. Conrad.
Esteemed Leading Knight—Lew Smith.
Esteemed Loyal Knight—Scheff Wright.
Esteemed Lecturing Knight—E. H. Brown.
Secretary—B. B. Baggett.
Treasurer—F. J. Niver.
Tiler—L. Kipp.
Trustee—Geo. F. Crouch.
Delegate to Grand Lodge—Geo. F. Crouch.
Alternate to Grand Lodge—W. M. Hankins.
A number of candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the order, and after the close of the ceremonies an Italian supper was served.

SNEAK THIEF SEEMS TO BE PARTICULARLY FOND OF EGGS

Several Daytona residents were the victims of hungry pilferers last night. J. G. Brown lost some eggs and a bag of selected oranges he had gathered for one of his guests. The culprit, evidently an old-timer, cleverly removed the spring from the top of the door to facilitate a hasty departure in the event he was discovered. Mrs. A. E. Barker of South Ridgewood avenue, also awoke to find her refrigerator depleted, and M. L. Wright of First street found a supply of fresh eggs among the missing. These thefts are all undoubtedly the work of the same person, who is becoming bolder. He confines his thefts to eatables, and seems to be especially fond of hen fruit. Charles Cook and Eric Mills were visited some time ago by a crook who took eggs in a similar manner along with other food.

Mrs. William Roxby returned today from Gainesville, where she has been with friends for about two weeks.

TEUTON PAPERS WARN NATION AGAINST WAR WITH THIS COUNTRY

"WE CANNOT SHUT OUR EYES TO THE ENDLESS SACRIFICE WAR WITH UNITED STATES WOULD DEMAND," SAYS THE GERMAN PRESS.

(By International News Service.)

BERLIN, March 4.—The conservative German press is today warning the nation of the appalling dangers of a war with the United States. It is pointed out just what it would mean to have the resources of America added to those of the Allies.

Herr Naumann, a member of the Reichstag, announced in an article published in a Schleswig newspaper, that the American fleet would be placed side by side with the British ships, thus increasing tremendously the possibility of an absolute blockade of all German ports. He further stated a formidable army could be raised in the United States within a period of six months.

U. S. Could Finance Allies Unlimitedly.

The fact that the United States could finance the Allies for an unlimited length of time was held out as the greatest of all arguments against an open rupture between Germany and this government.

TWO CRUISERS AND PATROL BOAT SUBMARINED BY THE GERMANS

(By International News Service.)

BERLIN, March 4.—The German admiralty announces the sinking of two French auxiliary cruisers and a British patrol boat by submarine activity. One of the French vessels was the LaProvence, a former trans-Atlantic liner.

The second annual Old Home Night will be held at the First Baptist church on North Palmetto avenue, Sunday evening, March 5th. The Rev. Holmes S. Rightmire, the pastor, has arranged a special sermon which he will deliver in his masterful way, while a special musical program has been prepared for the occasion. This event last winter proved to be a very successful one, and it is hoped the attendance this year will far surpass that of last season.

If lost they are valueless to the finder and new checks or cash for the original amount are issued at once. ### Y. M. C. A. SECRETARY OF BUFFALO TO SPEAK

A. H. Whitford, secretary of the Y.
M. C. A., of Buffalo, N. Y., will address the Tourist Bible Class of the Daytona Beach Methodist church, next Sunday morning at 9:45. Mr. Whitford, who is an excellent talker, is to discuss the topic, "True Labor or Reminiscences of the Road to Jericho and Palestine."

Mr. and Mrs. Whitford arrived a few days ago for a two weeks' stay at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. M. Treg-low, on Halifax avenue, and are already in love with the Peninsula.
Messrs. Whitford and Treglow have traveled through Europe together several years ago.

Such an excellent chance to hear a good speaker is seldom found, and all are invited to attend next Sunday morning's meeting. The service will be found pleasing and there will be room in the well-heated church for 500 people.

Daytona Beach has never before had such a fine number of good speakers as the Tourist Class of this well known church has presented during the season.

SEABREEZE PERSONALS

A good many Seabreeze people attended the Dickens' carnival at the Palmetto club, in Daytona, yesterday.
Also Peninsula residents crossed the river by scores to witness the Elks' parade, Friday afternoon.

The regular weekly card party was held last night in the lobby of the Princess Isseena. The prizes were received by E. N. Todd, Mrs. G. W.
Crooks, Mrs. Rothfus, Mrs. McKee and Mr. Pease. A delightful evening was experienced by all of the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Lord have returned north after, staying for some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G.
F. Johnson, on North Peninsula Drive.
They will stay for a few weeks in the Carolina mountains, after which they will continue north to their home in Endicott, N. Y.

Nothing less than a blizzard or a cloud-burst has moral strength enough to keep the golf enthusiasts away from the links, swinging the brassies and mashies and the rest of the paraphernalia. All day Friday and today golfers have been knocking their "glory dimples" into the northwest wind, which sweeps in full blast over the Clarendon course.

Royal Treasures.

Windsor castle contains many historic treasures. There are the beautiful cups and flags that were wrought by Benvenuto Cellini; the huge gold pieces of Flaxman that were made for George IV, of which the finest represents the Shield of Achilles, and many more besides. Two quaint centerpieces that belonged to Queen Victoria amuse the younger members of the royal family—one that shows the old queen's and Prince Con-sort's group of favorite dogs; while another—a gold and enameled fountain for scent—is surrounded by palm trees, at which some Arabs are watering their horses. The gold Lincoln cup is a trophy of George IV; and there is a flagon taken from the Armada, which the first gentleman of Europe had carved with the royal crown and Prince of Wales' feathers.

to keep your word is not to give it.

DAYTONA BEACH LOCALS

Mrs. Doenges and daughter, Miss Lulu, who have been staying at the Chas. H. Willson home on Seabreeze avenue for the last few months, left Friday on their return trip to their northern home in Indianapolis.

Miss Martha Louise Store, the little granddaughter of Mrs. H. Q. Hawley who has been visiting at the Hawley home for the last two months, left Friday on her return to her parents in Atlanta, Ga.

The work on the Cornelia Young Memorial library on the corner of Vermont avenue and Peninsula drive goes on daily. The brick walls are now being put up and a good idea of the building's appearance after completion, can now be obtained.

Miss Laura Thornburgh left Friday afternoon after visiting at the home of her aunt and uncle, Colonel and Mrs. John Minnis, on Peninsula Drive, Daytona Beach, for the winter, and will travel directly to her northern home, in Knoxville, Tenn.

Street work in the southern part of the town continues every day. Besides the work on South Atlantic avenue, which has been going on for some time, a gang is now grading lower Halifax avenue, for four hundred feet north of its junction with First avenue. Branch and Nicholson are doing the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, who left Daytona Beach a few days ago, after staying for several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Smith, write from Miami that they are now staying in that city, and have also enjoyed a short stay at West Palm Beach. They assure their Daytona Beach friends that they have "seen nothing so far that they like better than Daytona Beach."

The majority of Peninsula people had allowed their wood piles to grow small and had become very lax about their kindling, when old grizzly northwest wind turned a bit cooler and caused the mercury to accelerate backwards about forty degrees in 12 hours. However, axes and saws were all busy this morning replenishing the store of fagots, and undoubtedly Peninsula homes are all as warm inside today as the air was warm outside yesterday.

If Death Ends All.

And suppose after all that death does end all. Next to eternal joy, next to being forever with those we love and who have loved us—next to that, is to be wrapped in the dream-less drapery of eternal peace. Next to eternal life is eternal sleep. Upon the shadowy shore of death the sea of trouble casts no wave. Eyes that have been tortured by the everlasting dark will never know again the burning touch of tears. Lips touched by eternal silence will never speak again the broken words of grief.
Hearts of dust do not break. The dead do not weep. Within the tomb no veiled and weeping sorrow sits.
And in the rayless gloom is crouched
no shuddering fear.—Robert Ingersoll.

New Religions.

In religion the Jewish outgrew the Egyptian and Assyrian, the Christian outgrew the Jewish, the western the eastern church. What next? Will it be a New Christianity or Hyper-Christianity? Shall we in our progress get beyond the old Christianity of Neocongregationalism, beyond religion itself to that blessed Nirvana, the ne-plus ultra, where by the nature of things we may rest secure, serene, satisfied, superior to the most superior;
above the old-time religion, above the new-school religion, above the non-churchgoing religion, above supernatural religion, above religion? Who knows?

His Hallucination.

"When I take too much quinine for my malaria, as I occasionally do," confessed the Old Codger, "it affects my head and makes me think very foolish things. I remember once of getting so that I heard queer noises in my head, and for nearly a whole day fancied I was an 'Hon.' and was being solited by my many friends to run for the legislature."—Kansas City Star.

LARGE PARTY MAKE TRIP UP RIVER TO WELL KNOWN GROVE

THREE SCORE PENINSULA PEO-PLE ENJOY FINE DAY'S OUTING
TO KNOX AND BEED GROVES
ON FRIDAY.

Sixty-one persons, consisting of three separate parties from Daytona Beach and Seabreeze, made the trip to the Knox and Beed orange grove, Friday, on the Cherokee, the Nutting excursion boat. This crowd was made up of a Seabreeze party, chaperoned by Thos. R. Simpson, a Daytona Beach constituent, under the guiding wing of U. S. Shelly, and a Halifax avenue party, who was big enough to go alone.

This trip was given in honor of Judge Rollin H. Person, of the Michigan supreme court, who is now stopping at the Daytona Beach hotel.

After the morning's delightful ride,
the party arrived at the grove and enjoyed basket lunches, under the shade trees. A fine program of speeches was presented by various members of the party.

President R. S. Holmes, of the Daytona Beach M. E. church Tourist class, took the place of toastmaster and the rare program was opened by an address of welcome by Smith C. Young, a prominent Lansing resident, of Halifax avenue.

A. H. Whitford, secretary of the Buffalo, N. Y. Y. M. C. A., talked for a few minutes about the pleasures of a trip to Florida at the present time of year.

Mrs. Kemp Belle Bixby spoke on "Experiences With Snakes in India."
R. C. Waterson, the resident of Seabreeze, who is superintendent of the Daytona Beach M. E. church, talked about his home, "Canada." Mr. Waterson was the experienced maker of picnic coffee, which was relished by all the guests.

Among other delightful numbers was a solo by Mrs. I. W. Ramsey, who was introduced to the assembly as "Adelina Patti."

Others who had places on the day's program were Supt. E. M. Cummings, of Lansing, Mich., public schools, who is a guest at the S. G.
Young home; A. T. Bigelow, of Seabreeze; F. Keeler, state superintendent of public instruction in Michigan.

Leaving the beautiful Knox and Beed grove about the middle of the afternoon, the boatload of jolly winter people came home about 5:30 o'clock, and landed at the Phillip's dock by the Central bridge.

In the evening a complimentary banquet was given to about thirty of the friends of Judge Person by W. F.
Ayres, manager of the Daytona Beach hotel. Mr. Person says that he has never found a more delightful crowd of friends in any of his travels.

Labor.

Labor is the contest of the life of man with an opposite. Literally, it is the quantity or lapse, loss or failure of human life, caused by any effort.
It is usually confused with effort itself, or the application of power, but there is much effort which is merely a mode of recreation or of pleasure.
The most beautiful actions of the human body and the highest results of the human intelligence are conditions, or achievements, of quite unlaborious
—nay, of recreative effort. But labor is the suffering in effort. It is the negative quantity—or quantity of defeat—which has to be counted against every feat, and of defect which has to be counted against every fact or deed of men. In brief, it is "that quantity of our toil which we die in."—John Ruskin.

The "SILENT SMITH"

—Model 8 shows what should now be expected of a typewriter.

Ball Bearings; Long Wearing

The success of the L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriters has been due to the fact that the wants of the user have dictated its construction. The user has decided in favor of certain improvements now incorporated in Model 8.
Among them are:

Silence of Operation—The most silent running efficient typewriter ever placed on the market. Absolute silence has been very nearly attained.

Decimal Tabulator—A help in billing and tabulating.
There is no extra charge for this convenience.

Variable Line Spacer—Enables the operator to start on a given line and space from point of starting; also to write on ruled lines whose spacing varies from typewriter spacing. A great help in card work.

Faster Ribbon Feed—Insures new place of impact for each typeface.

Choice of Carriage Return—Upon special order the new left hand carriage return will be furnished in place of the right hand return.

All the important features of previous models have been retained —ball bearing carriage, typebars and capital shift, back spacer, key-controlled ribbon, removable platen, protected type, flexible paper feed and automatic ribbon reverse.

Write for New Catalog of Model 8. It will explain why the L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter is a synonym for superior service.

THE ROAMER HERE FOR A WEEK'S VISIT

CROSSED GULF STREAM IN HIGH SEAS—VISITED NASSAU, CUBA AND MANY SOUTHERN POINTS ON FLORIDA COAST.

The Roamer, hailing from Toronto, Canada, and owned by Doctor W. R. Patton, who is a member of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, tied up at the club dock this morning. She will remain about a week.

The Roamer is a Bermuda racer in the same class with the Dream that visited this city some little time ago. She made the fastest time over the return course in 1913, though one of the other cruisers beat her to Bermuda. In those days she was known as the Tocsam II—"mascot," spelled backwards.

She is 43 feet over-all, draws nearly four feet, has an 11-foot beam and is driven by a 35-40 Sterling motor. She is of the raised deck type, and an excellent, able boat in a heavy sea. She is handled by a crew of two, engineer and captain. Dr. Patton bought her immediately after the race in 1913, and renamed her.

The cruising party consists of the owner and his niece, Miss Carlyle, also of Toronto. They tied up at the yacht club on their way south. After spending a day or two here, the Roamer sailed on December 9th for Cuba. She touched at Miami, Palm Beach, Nassau and Havana.

When a representative of the News asked Miss Carlyle how long the party expected to remain in port, she said, smiling: "Oh, that depends on how you treat us. We had such a pleasant trip earlier in the season, we feel as if we were returning home. Gus and the members of the Yacht club do everything to make us comfortable. The only thing we dislike is the weather. Wont you please have it made a bit warmer?"

The Reporter assured her he would see to it at once.

DAYTONA COUPLE WERE MARRIED IN TITUSVILLE

A surprise to many of their friends in Daytona and vicinity will be the announcement of the marriage in Titusville last evening of Mrs. Agnes W. Fromberger and J. C. Butler, both of this city.

Mrs. Fromberger and little daughter, Carrie, went to Titusville, Wednesday of this week, in company with Mrs. C. H. Hooks of that city, who had been visiting Mrs. Fromberger for a day or two. Mr. Butler joined them in Titusville yesterday.

The couple had been planning to be married shortly in this city, but on Mr. Butler's arrival in Titusville, learning that a son of Mr. and Mrs. Hooks, Carl Hooks, and Miss Nellie Harden, of Titusville, were to be married that evening, they decided to join them in a double wedding, which took place in the Hooks' residence at 7:00 o'clock. The service was performed by Rev. J. G. Parsons, pastor of the Baptist church of Titusville. Little Miss Carrie Fromberger acted as flower girl and the Misses Grace and Myla Hooks were ring bearers. Following the double ceremony a wedding supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler returned to Daytona this morning, accompanied by little Miss Carrie Fromberger, and will make their home in the new cottage recently erected for Mrs. Butler on Baker street, where Mr. Butler will also have his real estate office.

Both the bride and groom have long been residents of Daytona and vicinity and will have the good wishes of many friends here for a happy and prosperous married life.

Jews in U. S. and England.
 There are more Jews in this country than there are in England by many tens of thousands. In both the United States and England the prejudice against the Jews, as compared with that in some other countries, is light.

Accounting for Prairies.
 The treeless prairies of Texas, Mexico and Central America are attributed to primitive Indian agriculture. Lands once cleared and afterwards abandoned were prevented by fire from becoming reforested, until all primitive agriculture ended in the age of grass, prairie fires, wandering buffaloes, and nomadic hunters.

Eye Wash.
 If your eyes have a burning feeling when you go home from business at night, bathe with a lotion made as follows: Boric acid, one ounce; boiling water, one pint. Put the boric acid in a basin and pour on the hot water and allow it to dissolve before bottling. Do not depend upon this, though, as your eyes undoubtedly need the attention of an oculist, and it is best to give them attention at once.

COMMISSIONER MALEY BACK FROM ROAD TOUR

AGREEABLY SURPRISED WITH SMOOTHNESS OF HIGHWAYS IN SOUTH FLORIDA—INSPECTION COVERED 5 COUNTIES.

Jerome D. Maley, county commissioner, returned last night from a lengthy inspection tour of the counties of Lake, Orange, Seminole, Polk and Hillsborough, where he has examined the road conditions before deciding upon precisely what is the best type of highway to withstand Florida's climatic and local conditions. He left Daytona last Monday.

Commissioner Maley said, "I was agreeably surprised to find the roads so good, taken all-in-all—particularly in south Florida. My tour extended from Lake county to Hillsborough county."

"M. M. Bond, chairman of the board of county commissioners, traveled with me the greater part of the way. He was also enthusiastic over road conditions. Good roads spell progress."

$750,000 Worth of Contracts.
 This district will let $400,000 worth of highway contracts and the DeLand district, $350,000 worth. Already many excellent roads stretch from important commercial and scenic points throughout the state and before the commissions of the different counties get through, Florida will be noted for its lengthy and smooth highways.

Popping the Question.
 Her Father—"You've been calling on my daughter for some time, young man. Why don't you come down to business?" Suitor—"Very well. How much are you going to leave her?"—Boston Transcript.

Care of Matting.
 Try sewing your new matting with raffia. Dampen and split each strand. This will make a fine seam that will lock well on either side. When laying new matting one can prevent ridges and wrinkles if after putting down as smooth as possible, you will wash with a pail of hot water, to which a cup of salt has been added. Leave quite wet and in drying the matting will shrink into place. The salt toughens it. Wash with the grain of the matting. Never sweep matting with an uncovered broom, as it will split the fiber, but cover the broom with a soft cotton bannel bag and dip in salt water to brighten it.

EVANGELIST MILLER CONDUCTS SERVICES

The evangelist of national reputation, L. J. Miller, with Nashville, Tennessee, for a home, and "the world for his parish," is conducting services every week-day at 9:30 a. m. and 7:15 p. m., and Sunday at 11:00 a. m. and 7:15 p. m., under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, of Kingston. He is evangelist of the Miami district.

The meetings are conducted under canvas at the corner of Ridgewood and Cypress avenues. The tent has a seating capacity of 600 persons. The service is of the usual revival type with special music.

Tomorrow at 11:00 a. m., the Rev. L. J. Miller will preach on the "Atonement," and at 7:15 p. m., he will give a talk on "The Prodigal Son." He is a fluent speaker, and unusually interesting to people of all beliefs. It is understood last year he traveled over a distance of 20,000 miles, visiting more than 100 towns.

The meetings began last Sunday and will continue until March 12th. This is the first season Methodist Episcopal revival services have been held under canvass in Daytona. So far, the attendance has been gratifyingly large.

IS TRYING TO LOCATE A KIMBALL, NEBRASKA, COUPLE

A. A. Wales of 132 First avenue, received a telegram last evening from D. G. Matthews, Kimball, Neb., with request to inform Mr. and Mrs. John Eubank that their daughter, Evelyn, was ill with scarlet fever. The message stated that the attending physician pronounced it a rather severe case, but the patient was getting along very satisfactorily. Mr. Matthews desired to be notified if Mr. and Mrs. Eubank were here. Mr. Wales has been unable to locate the couple, and came to the News with the hope of getting track of them. Anyone knowing their present whereabouts will confer a favor by communicating with Mr. Wales.

Great Truth.
 You can't make a gentleman out of a black cat and a bill bat.

Bird Importations.
 The number of birds imported into the United States annually amounts to about 500,000, and as many as 17,000 have become dwellers in America within one day. The half million feathered strangers represent 1,500 different species, but the greater number of the importations are of canaries, parrots and game birds.

ANNUAL SPRING INVITATION TOURNAMENT OF ASHEVILLE
COUNTRY CLUB, APRIL 11-15

Of special interest to golfers, is the advice just received in regard to the Annual Tournament at Asheville, N. C., in April.

The Country Club at Asheville has gone to much expense to have their course ready for the Spring Tournament, and this work has been under the direct supervision of one of the leading grass experts of the country.

This course is much appreciated by all classes of players, the professionals, and those who play for recreation.

Lying as it does on a rolling plateau, the course of eighteen holes, 542 yards around, offers every attraction to the lovers of the game.

The greens are covered with a grass absolutely without resistance, and as soft as velvet.

The climate of Asheville is most delightful at this season of the year, and the tourist hotels are amply prepared to take care of all visitors.

There is a special attraction there for those of the family who do not play golf, but who enjoy horseback riding, the livery people catering particularly to high-class saddle horses; the miles of good roads, horseback trails and sightseeing points on the mountain peaks near Asheville lend a never-ending variety of recreation.

Optimistic Thought.
He meditates evil for himself who meditates it for another.

The Hart and the Vine.
A Hart, hard pressed in the chase, hid himself beneath the large leaves of a Vine. The huntsmen, in their haste, overshot the place of his concealment, when the Hart, supposing all danger to have passed, began to nibble the tendrils of the Vine. One of the huntsmen, attracted by the rustling of the leaves, looked back, and, seeing the Hart, shot an arrow from his bow, and killed it. The Hart, at the point of death, groaned out these words: "I am rightly served; for I ought not to have maltreated the Vine that saved me."—From Aesop's Fables.

Explaining Dandruff.
Anybody who wants to know what dandruff is can memorize this little statement: "It is a disease of the sebaceous glands which open into the hair follicles and secrete an oily substance, and dandruff results when the glands become infected and commence to exude an inflammatory substance into the follicles to such an extent that it dries into flakes." Makes baldness seem unimportant.

ADLER TO BUILD
9 BRICK STORES

BUILDING TO BE ERECTED AT CORNER OF MAGNOLIA AND PALMETTO AVENUES. WORK IS TO BE BEGUN SOON.

Plans have been practically completed for the erection of a large mercantile building on the corner of Magnolia and Palmetto avenues. The building will be erected by Louis Adler and will face 160 feet on Magnolia avenue, with a depth of 75 feet. It will contain nine store rooms, which will be occupied by commercial enterprises, such as shops, etc. A number of the rooms have already been rented for next season.

It is the plan of Mr. Adler to commence construction work just as soon as the present tourist season closes and to have the building ready for occupancy next fall. The structure will be of brick, two stories high, and will be one of the handsomest buildings in Daytona. The residence now located on the lot will be moved to another location.

CITY COMMISSION
TELLS TELEPHONE COMPANY TO MOVE

The city commissioners have served notice on the East Florida Telephone company that a new city hall will probably be erected before very long and that the telephone company must prepare to move from their present quarters, over the present city hall.

Daytona has outgrown its present antiquated magneto telephone system and when the plant is moved it will be an excellent opportunity for the company to install a modern telephone system, to which the city is entitled.

*Owing to ill health will sell my new brick residence with every modern improvement, corner Ocean boulevard and Duke street, Daytona Beach; also cottage, 135 North Ridgewood avenue, both in excellent order and a real bargain. No reasonable offer refused. W. M. Shaffner, Daytona Beach. 66&m-w&s-1f

BABY-HOMEFOLKS
PICTURE SHOW

The Arcade theater management is soon to add a novel feature in showing Daytona babies, school children and grown-ups.

Expert photographers are canvassing the entire city and will photograph all the babies and children free of charge, and the pictures will be shown on the large curtain at the Arcade theater, by a new process.

It seems that local pictures strike a more popular chord than any others, and a show of this character is bound to make good anywhere.

Besides the children's and babies' pictures, there are snap-shots of the grown-ups, caught on the street when they didn't know it; all the stores of Daytona; various scenes around the town, school pictures, Elks' parade, in fact, everything of local interest.

In addition to a great number of these pictures being shown each day, there will be the usual number of reels and many other special features added each day. The program deviates so fast and there are so many new surprises that the audience sits with expectancy and delight throughout each performance, feeling more than paid for the price of admission. This attraction begins three weeks' engagement, Monday afternoon, March the 6th.

*For Sale—Horse, set of harness, bridle, large surry and tray. G. Walbaum, Ormond Beach. 7f

We have welcomed Teuton and Slav and Celt

But we are the kin of the world.

What can we do when the world is at war?

650,000 ACRES FOR CAMPERS AVAILABLE IN NEW ENGLAND

Government Will Lease Five Acre Tracts at $5 Per Year.

There has been widespread interest in New England states in the decision of the United States forestry bureau to open to summer campers and vacationists 650,000 acres of public lands in the White mountains of New Hampshire, and many have taken it for granted that the terms offered by the government, $5 per annum for tracts of five acres for each person, the leases to run for thirty years, will be taken advantage of by thousands of persons next summer.

But there are some aspects of the offer that are likely to make it less attractive on closer investigation. The rate specified is less nominal than would appear at first sight, for whereas $5 a year for five acres is cheap enough and a thirty year lease would cost only $150, it must be considered that there are in New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont and Massachusetts thousands of acres of land suitable for camping sites that may be purchased outright for $5 per acre, so that for a total outlay of $150 one may obtain not five, but thirty acres of very desirable land.

The waste lands in Massachusetts that may be obtained for next to nothing run into the thousands of acres, and inquiry at the state forestry commission shows that any quantity of such land can be purchased on lakes where the fishing and boating are excellent and in beautiful scenic surroundings. The state is buying up much of this land at an average price under $5 an acre and some of it on Cape Cod as low as 25 cents an acre, and what the state can do individuals may do if they possess the initiative.

Moreover, there is a law in Massachusetts which offers an even more attractive proposition than that presented by the thirty year leases in the White mountains. Waste land purchased by individuals under this law will be planted in white pine or other valuable trees and cared for by the state by scientific forestry methods at a trifling expense to the owner, the only requirements being a form of transfer back to the state for its protection in the event of default.

Some long headed persons are taking advantage of this law, and sportsmen's clubs are beginning to acquire considerable areas in this way, but the great mass of the people are not availing themselves of it, and most of them probably do not know that such a law is on the statute books. This act offers not only an opportunity to acquire a pleasant summer camp, but a permanent investment in growing timber.

TO VOTE ON LIQUOR ISSUE.

Three Hundred Illinois Towns to Settle Question at the Polls in April.

Some counties and towns of Illinois will vote on the wet and dry question next April as the result of petitions filed both by the saloon and anti-saloon forces. In about one-third of the localities the wet faction is seeking to regain control of the districts, while in the remainder the dries are trying to drive out the saloons.

In the district surrounding Chicago most of the petitions were filed by the wets in an effort to recover ground lost in the last test, which, coming soon after women were given the ballot, resulted disastrously for the saloon forces. Among the cities are Elgin, Sterling, De Kalb, Rockford, Batavia, Plainfield, Geneva, Plain, Yorkville, Elmhurst and Skokie.

Apparently the wets have given up hope of regaining Rockford, the largest city in the state. No petition was filed there, despite the fact that the city for years has been one of the principal battlegrounds of the wet and dry forces. The wets also ignored a large number of smaller towns which were voted dry at the last election.

In addition to these larger cities the anti-saloon forces filed petitions in nearly 200 towns in the western and central parts of the state.

The dries are counting to a great extent upon the increasing number of women who are going to the polls at every election.

New Stars.

Many questions have been asked in regard to the probable fate of new stars, after they have ceased to attract special attention. It has been shown that such stars which have appeared in recent years have been converted into nebulae, and later, in many cases, into extremely faint stars of apparently normal condition.

THE WEATHER

Optimist Department, Devoted to Cheering Up "The Land of Sunshine."

Well, ladies and gentlemen, here we are again—all freezing to death. Here we are wearing summer clothes and a happy smile. By analysis, that means a happy smile in the case of some of the women. Certainly 'tis no business of ours. Certainly we're not referring to your wife. Besides, anybody has a right to smile. Smiles have been the undoing of many men, and yet we have never heard of harmful effects from too many clothes!

Yep, we're goin' to "shut up." Get this: Charles Cotesworth Pinckney once said, "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute." Somebody suggested he made the remark to his wife upon receiving a bill for "summer clothes." I know I'm in wrong! Never mind, ladies, we'll slap the men next time.

Speaking of gas meters, did you ever know:

"There are meters of rhyme,
There are meters of tone;
But the best of all meters,
Is to meet her alone."

"Now stay thy hand." Heave not that aged egg at me. I did not do this. Stop chewing the rag and give it to the dog. Then sink your ivorys into this.

WE PICK 'EM OFF THE TREES.

The moon stopped still in heav'nly climb,
To watch the awful race;
The trooper's horse was making time,
The spectre held his pace.

The moon moved on, the stars forgot,
The mountain echoes died;
The darkness showed a darker blot,
They now rode side by side.

Along the narrow mountain trail,
The trembling trooper sped;
While mist hung shrouded o'er the dale,
He raced the gruesome dead.

"Ho! Ho! Brave soldier; see this gun?
I wish no bloody strife;
And if you cough up watch and mon,
I'll spare to you your life."

The trooper sighed and shrilly cried,
"I'll come across, me Lord;
I never thought a ghost would ride
In a d—d old Ford!"

MRS. WILSON FIRM IN SHAKING HANDS

Vigorous Manner Expected to Replace Formal Method.

SOCIETY WILL FOLLOW HER

At First White House Reception the First Lady Stood Up and Shook 4,226 Hands in a Little Over Three Hours, or One Every Three Seconds. Was Not Fatigued.

Mrs. Wilson shook hands. That was the one outstanding feature of the first official White House reception recently. It was not the limp and listless style of handshake which is at present considered good form. It was the old fashioned hearty handshake of our grandfathers' days.

All Washington fashionable society was interested at the news. Has Mrs. Wilson set a new fashion?

It has not been customary for the president's wife to shake hands on the occasion of public receptions. She merely smiles and bows.

In fact, the whole subject of shaking hands is in a more or less indefinite condition in fashionable society. There are many women of good social position who do not shake hands if it can be avoided. They maintain that a bow and a smile are sufficient greeting. If a woman makes no move toward extending her hand it is not good form to force her into action by extending a hand toward her.

A Big Undertaking.

But if a situation arises where a woman finds a hand extended she accepts the advance and perhaps feebly extends three fingers, just enough to save the situation from embarrassment.

Of course President Wilson's bride knows all this and had thought about it. When she took her place at the head of the line of the cabinet ladies the other evening she had decided exactly what she was going to do. Whatever women in fashionable society were doing or whatever had been the habit of other mistresses of the White House, Mrs. Wilson decided to shake every hand that wanted to be shaken. And she did so.

The job Mrs. Wilson undertook was no small one. She was obliged on the occasion mentioned to shake hands with no fewer than 4,226 persons. She began shaking hands at exactly 9:30 p. m., when the first guest was introduced to her. At precisely 12:45 a. m., three-quarters of an hour after midnight, she stopped.

No Fashionable Affections.

The task occupied Mrs. Wilson continuously for three and one-quarter hours, or 195 minutes. In that length of time there are 11,700 seconds. Thus it seems that the average time consumed per handshake was about two and four-fifths seconds.

Mrs. Wilson is a strong woman physically, else she could hardly have withstood such an ordeal. As a matter of fact, she was so little fatigued that next morning she was up and out by 10 o'clock paying an informal visit to an old friend.

Mrs. Wilson is not and never has been a woman of fashion. Accordingly she has no fashionable frills and affectations. When she shakes hands she does not hold her own at shoulder level and waggle the other person's paw horizontally. Nor does she languidly extend two or three fingers.

On the contrary, she shakes hands in the old fashioned sort of way—not merely offering her own limply to be grasped, but with a warm and hearty clasp. It is a cordial, old fashioned handshake that she gives, meeting the party of the second part halfway, as it were.

Hand Traveled Over a Mile.

Mrs. Wilson's handshake is given at the level of her waist—a simple two up and down movement. It occupies not more than one second of time—the remaining one and four-fifths seconds according to the time schedule of the other night's reception being consumed by the guest in advancing and bowing.

Mrs. Wilson's right hand rose about five inches and descended five inches; it rose again five inches and fell five inches. Then the grasping fingers relaxed, and the hand withdrew to her side. The handshake was over.

Mrs. Wilson's hand traveled a distance of twenty inches, up and down, at each handshake. She shook 4,226 hands. Her hand therefore traveled $4,520 inches, or nearly a mile and a quarter, during the evening.

It might seem that Mrs. Wilson's manner of shaking hands was of no imaginable importance. But such a view of the case would be a mistake. For the president's wife is always the leader of fashion at the national capital, and whatever she does, whether she wishes it or not, is widely copied and imitated.

That Mrs. Wilson will continue to shake hands at White House receptions is by no means to be taken for granted. Indeed, the chances are that she will fall back upon the traditional custom and be content with a bow and smile. In the recent instance there was a reason for making an exception.

The reason lay in the fact that the reception was to all intents and purposes a wedding reception. The president's marriage had been so private an affair that even his most intimate personal friend, Colonel House, was not invited.

Marked's Failures.

I am quite clear that one of our worst failures is at the point where, having resolved like angels, we drop back into the old matter-of-fact life and do just what we did before, because we have always done it, and because everybody does it, and because our fathers and mothers did it; all of which may be the very reason why we should not do it.

There is no station of life, and no place of one's home, where if he want to enlarge his life in caring for people outside himself, he may not start a career of enlargement which shall extend indefinitely. And we shall find the answer to our question to be that the man who enters upon infinite purposes lives the human life. He enlarges his life by every experience of life.—Phillips Brooks

BRITISH CRUISER AND STEAMER IN COLLISION

MYSTERIOUS THREE-FUNNELED VESSEL
SEEN DIMLY THROUGH SNOWSTORM OFF VIRGINIA CAPES.

(By International News Service.)

NEW YORK, March 4.—The Brazilian steamer, Sergipo reported via wireless today that she was in collision with an unknown British cruiser about 50 miles south of Sandy Hook at 2:00 o'clock this morning.

It is understood from the wording of the dispatch neither of the vessels suffered serious injury. The English "watch-dog" is believed to be searching for German commerce raiders, numbers of which are thought to be steaming up and down the coast of the United States beyond the three-mile limit.

German Raider Seen in Snowstorm.

Norfolk, March 4.—A mysterious, three-funneled steamer appeared in the snowstorm close in to the Virginia capes early today, giving rise to the rumor that another Teuton raider has escaped the vigilance of the cruisers of the Allies. It was thought for a time she would attempt to enter port. Officials here endeavored to communicate with the ship, but she faded back into the horizon before anything definite could be discovered about her.

20 DEAD IN EXPLOSION OF FRENCH WAR PLANT

PARIS, March 4.—A French ammunition factory, situated at Lacourneuve, a suburb of Paris, blew up today killing many men and women workers. Fire broke out after the first explosion, and as the flames ate their way through the plant, more explosions followed.

One hour after the accident 200 bodies had been recovered, and 125 of the injured rushed to Paris hospitals for treatment. The casualty and fatality lists will probably swell to much larger proportions upon full particulars of the disaster.

Although the authorities have made no statement, it is thought the explosion was a happen-so and did not originate with agents of the enemy. The factory owners are reticent as to facts.

That pretty house, which you saw advertised in this space this week, has been bought, by a wise man. However, you need not be too greatly disappointed, for I have another big value to offer on the east side of Ridgewood Avenue; a bungalow of six rooms, on a large lot, with plenty of fruit trees and a rose garden. The house is furnished, and has all modern improvements, including a hot air furnace, in the basement. Come in and let me tell you more about it; or, better, show it to you. The price is right.

RESIDENT OF KINGSTON DIED THIS MORNING

Mrs. Mary Sewell, wife of Louis Sewell, died at the home of the couple on North Avenue, Kingston, between 6 and 7 o'clock this morning, following a long illness. Mrs. Sewell was 58 years of age.

Funeral services will be held at the residence at 10:00 o'clock tomorrow morning, conducted by Rev. J. F. Bray, pastor of the Kingston M. E. church, South, and interment will be made in Pinewood cemetery, Daytona Beach.

The deceased, who was well known to the people of Kingston and vicinity, is survived by her husband and several sons and daughters, who will have the sympathy of friends in their bereavement.

Thought and Speech.

In spite of Emerson, consistency is a hobgoblin. Most of us cannot help feeling that what we have said one day we must abide by the next, and this makes us careful. We are brought up from youth to think twice before we speak, and so we do. We think, perhaps, three or four times; and when we have done our thinking we have begun to suspect that we are poor creatures anyway and might better not speak at all; which may be the case, or not.

10,000 PERSONS VIEW ELKS' FOOLISH PARADE

TRAFFIC CONGESTED AS COLUMN PASSED

NEW SMYRNA BRANCH ARRIVED WITH GOAT—JACKASS AN UN-RULY BRUTE THAT CAUSED MUCH CONCERN.

The Elks' parade yesterday afternoon proved one of the greatest features that ever witnessed a parade of any kind in this city.

Every point of vantage on the line of march was occupied by a crowd estimated at 10,000 men, women and children who had been looking forward eagerly to the event and showed evident enjoyment of the various special features. The streets were lined with automobiles, parked on either side, and the sidewalks, balconies and windows of all the hotels, stores and private houses along the route were filled with interested spectators.

The largest crowd was gathered in the vicinity of the Elks' home at the corner of Volusia and Palmetto avenues to see the beginning of the parade which left the home shortly after after 3:00 o'clock.

All of the candidates had been captured, with the exception of Dr. H. L.
Merryday and A. McF. Porter and the latter was secured at city hall by the paraders and taken back with them to the Elks' home. The candidates were kept prisoners in the basement of the home until the parade was ready to move and were then brought forth by M. Leiderdorf and others and ordered to keep in lock step. They were all in regulation prison garb.

In front of the building was a large cage on wheels that attracted much attention. This bore several placards, one stating that it was the "Elks'

Nut Factory," another reading "A.
Vande Vord, the Original Ford Nut." Still another placard stated that "The Girls of the Palmetto Club Have Invited the Elks to Visit Them at Their Clubhouse, and We Are Going."

Major J. D. C. Morris was supposed to lead the parade as marshal, mounted on a burro, or some similar bird of prey, but he was more often bringing up the rear of the procession or being extricated by friendly hands from an entanglement with automobiles and other vehicles along the way, the beast which he bestrode having the stronger will of the two. David Sholtz was mounted on a dapper little steed that took a strong hand to hold within the line of paraders and made its rider an object of great attraction to the ladies.

There were a number of special features that were greatly interesting to the crowd, one of the best being the Italian organ-grinder and his monkey, which was a splendid take off on the real article. Another that found favor with the ladies and the children especially was the "Yellow Kid." Gene Johnson created a sensation on his high bicycle and so on through the list.

There were two bands in the parade,
one of which, the Earl Hawk stock company band, came to Daytona with the bunch of Elks from New Smyrna and Oak Hill. The company, which will play here next week, is now giving performances in New Smyrna and the band is a real musical organization, most of the members of which are Elks.

The other band was Big Miller's Virtuoso Kazoo band with Miller himself as drum major. This was the initial performance of the organization, and it met with hearty and continued applause, notwithstanding the fact that its repertoire was somewhat limited.

There were several hundred Elks, members of Daytona lodge and visitors in the parade, and many more who should have been included in its ranks viewed the procession of their brethren from places of safety in automobiles and on the sidewalk.

The Elks had received an invitation from the ladies of the Palmetto club to visit their clubhouse on Orange avenue, where they were engaged in hold-

3400 r. p. m. Subdued, Controlled and Converted Into Thrifty Energy

There is more meaning wrapped up in the term
"3400 r. p. m. Chalmers" than in any phrase in the history of motor building.

It means, first of all, performance

It means might fused with mileage, and brute force tamed into silken flexibility.

It means supreme engine speed attained with absolute safety, and big horse-power that you and I dare drive.

It means that every drop of gasoline that is inhaled into the aluminum lungs of this wonderful beast's engine is compelled to deliver every available gram of its dynamic energy.

It means the subordination of superfluous might into the golden boon of imperishable pick-up, obedience, and a smooth-running, uninterrupted, throbless stream of might.

It means 18 miles of glorious going from every gallon of gas, and a saving of $150 to $200 per year in gasoline that an engine of useless might would require.

It means 60 miles an hour, if you want speed, without whisper of the roar of racing motors.

It means performance plus, and cost of upkeep minus.

It means incomparable ability "on high" beyond any car in its price-class—anything from two miles an hour to twenty-five in less than ten seconds.

It means everything that the name Chalmers stands for at a lower price than any other Chalmers car has ever borne.

It means a competition-cleaving car, built under new conditions of quantity production under the Chalmers' roof, at a time when the whole South is able to buy cars on a scale never equalled before.

It means that I am prepared to make prompt deliveries in the order of sales.

It means that this is the car you'll feel you must own, once you have seen and felt it perform.

No man is sage enough to foretell the condition of the market for materials a few weeks hence. It will be the part of wisdom and may save many a regret if you record your order now.

HELP THE OTHER FELLOW—HE CAN HELP YOU

That has not been adopted as the slogan of our Association, but it exemplifies the spirit of the organization. They seem to have the belief that "the other fellow" is of the same mind, and that every one is going to do his level best to make ALLANDALE a town of tomorrow.

PUBLIC SPIRIT

There are many towns that lack this most necessary element to inspire one to do his best.

We have the will to do things in ALLANDALE — everybody wants to help. If we prosper it will not be due to our optimism, but to the broad point of view that includes our neighbor's success with ours.

BROOKLYNS PLAY WITH CLARENDONS TODAY

As the bell tapped the training hour time yesterday, thirteen Brooklyn National players began their work with a vim and determination that means one of the best training seasons they have had. Time after time Manager Robinson had to call the men down for too strenuous work, particularly the pitchers. "You know, I guess it must be this ideal weather we are having that puts such enthusiasm into the men," remarked the manager. "Their anxiousness for work is more in evidence than I ever knew before and I have to watch them all the time lest some over-do the thing."

No word has yet been received on Outfielder Jimmie Johnson, who was to report on the first, yet he is likely to report unannounced at any moment. Although Johnson is a crack outfielder and his non-appearance, ordinarily, would cause uneasiness, Manager Robinson thinks he will show up soon. An enthusiastic cheer of greeting from the players was evidenced as Dell and McCarty, pitcher and catcher, respectively, showed up in uniform and eagerly got into practice. Dell has fully recovered from an operation sometime during the winter months and is in "great shape" says his manager.

Colwell was given a call down several times yesterday when he persisted in displaying speed and curves. He apparently has something up his sleeve in the way of a "foolish" ball and is continually attempting to experiment with it.

A slight thunder shower interfered with the morning practice only for a short while, as the moisture readily soaked into the dry earth. "I rather think rain is needed on the field" said Manager Robinson, "and I am sure the grass in the outfield would soon cover the ground nicely. It is in better shape now than I ever expected it could be, but the grass will help lots."

Mack Wheat and Louis McCarty, catchers, will "choose sides" today and with the addition of a few of the Clarendon players, will endeavor to get into the game for something realistic. This practice game will at-ford better opportunity to judge just how the men are getting into the winter training.

Wear Furs of Necessity.

Throughout the cold latitudes of China during the winter the Chinese of all classes wear fur, wood or nair-lined garments. Even the coolies have their sheep or goat skins, and people of the middle and official classes have many sets of garments lined with the richest furs. Their houses are rarely heated to a comfortable temperature and in consequence they wear their furs both indoors and out.

Worth Knowing.

Linoleum when first laid should be given a coat of good floor polish made of wax and pure oils free from acids of any nature. This should be well rubbed into the linoleum to fill the pores, then the linoleum should be polished. When necessary to clean use a good soap, which must be free from alkalis, and take warm water. Do not use soda or any of the strong soaps or cleansing compounds, which are apt to destroy the finish and color. Some prefer that the linoleum should be polished once each month with a good floor wax, but the soap and water method is believed to be the best.

Cardinals Other than Papal. England has cardinals other than those created by the pope. At one time there were officials of that title attached to a number of our cathedrals, whose duty it was to visit the sick and relieve the needy, but St. Paul's is now alone in the possession of a senior and a junior cardinal, elected by the deans from among the minor canons. One of the holders of the title in recent times was the author of the "Jackdaw of Rheims"—London Chronicle.

Optimistic Thought. Virtue not pedigree characterizes nobility.

Discouraged. Charles, aged six, had been asking his father and mother for some time for a mudguard for the small bicycle which he rode, but the weather conditions had been such that his parents thought the purchase would be deferred. One evening his mother noticed that he had not said his prayers as usual and asked him why. "Well, mamma," said the lad, "I kept praying for that mudguard and when I found there was nuthin' stirrin' I just stopped prayin'."

"THE CRUCIBLE" AT THE NEW DAYTONA THEATER

"The Crucible" will be a feature service to be shown at the New Daytona theater today, with Marguerite Clark as the principal star. The story follows:

In the powerful and heart-grIPPING drama of "The Crucible," by Mark Lee Luther, the portrayal of a soul's ordeal in the megaplot of suffering, from which the furnace it emerges unscathed, is strengthened by its agonies. Marguerite Clark plays the part of little Jean Fanshaw, at first boyden and tom-boy, unjustly condemned to a reformatory, who later triumphs over the shame of her imprisonment and the sordid corruptness of her environment, returning good for evil to those who worked havoc with her life.

Jean Fanshaw is brought up by her father as nearly like a boy as possible, with the result that, when he dies, her mother and sister, quite differently from the high-spirited, sincere and frankish Jean, misunderstand and dislike her thoroughly, and ill-treat her accordingly. Her sister, Amelia, a sedate and self-righteous girl, magnifies all Jean's tempers and eccentricities, until Mrs. Fanshaw believes Jean to be a perfect fiend, and causes friends and neighbors to think the same. One day, at a picnic, a playful trick of Jean's enrages her mother and sister, and when they arrive home Amelia nags and bullies Jean till she catches up a sickle in a spirit of mischief, threatening to defend herself with it, if necessary. Amelia, alarmed up with a quick motion, and cuts herself on the sickle. She runs screaming to her mother, declaring that Jean has attacked her. This her mother believes, and joins her outcries to Amelia's; the constable and neighbors run in, and eventually Jean is sentenced to the reformatory, where the raff of the town and state are collected, and among them Stella Wilkes, a notorious girl of the village, who is one of the first to welcome Jean to the house of Refuge. At first, the refined and sensitive Jean is overwhelmed by the disgrace of her imprisonment, and crushed by her sordid environment, but gradually her strength of character asserts itself. She determines to escape from the reformatory, and succeeding, meets in the woods, Craig Atwood, a young artist, who, learning her sad story, advises her to go back, and serve out her term, so that she may avoid all danger of being recaptured. Jean sees the wisdom of his advice, and that it is the nobler part. She returns to the refuge, and later, in a riot among the girls, led by Stella Wilkes, saves the matron from assault and wins her pardon. Not being wanted at home by her proud mother and her sister Amelia, now married, she goes to the city, and obtains employment only to be hounded from her position, and shamed everywhere, by the vengeful Stella Wilkes, who has sworn to "get even." Almost at the brink of despair, she again meets the artist of her adventure in the woods, and after a hasty wooing, she promises to become his wife. How the cup of happiness is snatched from her lips, how the shadow of the reformatory again looms over her, how she heaps coals of fire upon her weak sister's head, saving Amelia's home, and how she regains her own love, and is rewarded for her long struggle against evil and despair, are vividly unfolded in this unusually strong photo-play.

MATTER" AT CRYSTAL
*****

Featuring Maxlyn Arbuckle, in "It's No Laughing Matter," as Hi Judd, the

Crescent offers a screeching comedy drama, the story of which follows:

Hi Judd, poet, postmaster and philosopher, is the sunshine of the village, a veritable doctor of happiness. His right arm the little world of the village, leans on, the kind words he scatters broadcast reap their harvest of love for the old postmaster and the verses he writes (sometimes when he should be working) proclaim him the wit of the village. All because of the verse writing Mrs. Judd is often discouraged; Hi confides in his daughter, Bess, that he often stands in awe of Mrs. Judd, when she catches him, pen in hand, with the wood pile untouched and the chores not done. But Bess is consoling and when Hi is not around she makes a collection of the verses and sends them on to a great newspaper.

Theirs is a peaceful life that must have its dramatic climax and it all descends upon them at once. Jim Skinner, an unscrupulous, grasping old miser, holds the mortgage on the house and also has designs upon Hi's position as postmaster. Then the bank fails and shadows hang low.

In the meanwhile drama is stirring within their home. Bess who had thought she cared for Hal, the station master is under the spell of Sam, who has come from the city to be the new ticket agent. Hi, dubious of his character and regretting his daughter's change of heart, before it is too late, finds a picture of Sam, his wife and their baby. Hi recognized in the wife, Belle, the long missing daughter of Mother Wilkins, a widow of the village, whose home has burned and who would have suffered from privation had it not been for the generosity of Hi. He sends for Belle, making her believe the money and message came from Sam and when Sam is confronted with the wife and baby, he sees there is nothing to be done but face the unexpected situation.

The mortgage is due. Heartbroken, they are preparing to leave the little home when word comes from the newspaper—"Verses accepted—send them as fast as you can write them."

Thus ends the story. Hi, with his $500.00 check from the newspaper, pays off the mortgage, the future holds its promise—Mother Wilkins is happy with her daughter and the little baby—and Hal and Bess are engaged to be married.

Steadfast and True.
Nothing is steadfast that is insincere.—Cicero.

"THE LURE OF HEART'S DESIRE" AT CRYSTAL

The Crystal theater today shows "The Lure of Heart's Desire," one of the famous Metro features. Following is synopsis:

Jim Carew, a sturdy lighthouse keeper, saves the life of Ethel Wyndham, a young society woman, whose boat crashes upon the rocks near his post. Soon after her recovery she is returned to the mainland, and to her friends, and Carew, disconsolate because of his unrequited love for the girl, gives up the lighthouse. In his subsequent wanderings, he becomes possessed of the gold fever, and joins a prospecting party in the rush to the Yukon.

In the Yukon, Carew is successful from the start. He strikes a big claim, and soon amasses a fortune. On the last night of his first week in the Yukon, Carew joins a group of miners celebrating in the leading saloon. Little Snow Bird, a beautiful young Indian girl, strolls into the place, and immediately catches Carew's fancy. Crazy Jake, one of the miners, who is known for his fearlessness and brawn, proposes that the miners all cut the cards for the girl, the holder of the highest card to claim her as his own.

Carew resents this proposal, and he and Crazy Jake come to blows. Carew besets the bully in the encounter, and is hailed as the hero of the game. Little Snow Bird's heart goes out to Carew, and surreptitiously, she follows him wherever he goes. One night he falls in a big snow storm, and it is Little Snow Bird who finds him and carries him to safety. Afterward, they live together.

Carew, with all the money at his command that he desires, tires of the camp life in the desolate Alaskan wastes, and pines for one more fling on the Great White Way. He arranges to go to New York for one trip, and then return to his Little Snow Bird for life. Carew arrives in New York on New Year's Eve. He engages a table in Murray's restaurant, one of the smartest and gayest places in town. There he observes Ethel Wyndham at another table, and immediately joins her party. Now that he is wealthy, she is willing to listen to his renewed vows of love. She agrees to marry Carew, but her consort, Thomas Martin, a society leech and gambler, prevents her by threatening to expose her for some shady blackmailing transactions they have been engaged in together.

Ethel is driven to renounce Carew, and he is broken hearted. Back on the Yukon the little Indian girl is waiting for him. She despairs of Carew ever returning, and takes her own life at her father's death-bed. Carew now remembers his Indian girl and decides to go back to her, renouncing society as frivolous and a sham. He arrives there on the very night that Little Snow Bird has passed away. But at her side he finds a newly born babe—another Little Snow Bird. During the years that follow, Carew devotes himself to the daughter and lavishes every luxury upon her, in memory of the mother.

Inexpensive Joy.

The amount of joy in one's life is not at all dependent upon the amount of money one spends. A man can get just as much fun, for instance, out of lying about the height of his tomato plants as he can out of pursuing the same course with respect to his mileage per gallon of gasoline.

Filling Hollow Trees.

In some parts of the country the practice of filling hollow trees with concrete has been superseded by one involving the use of a mixture of asphalt and sawdust. It is claimed this mixture costs less for both material and labor of handling and is just as durable. It certainly is not of equal strength with concrete, unless there be found some method of making it more solid than would be the case with a loose mixture of the two materials named. Good paving blocks are made of sawdust and asphalt, but they are produced under great pressure. Their use for tree filling has not yet stood the test of time.

Etiquette Rules.

The proper place for a woman in her own automobile or carriage or box at the opera is the right-hand corner. People in this country are not so particular about this as are English and continental, but it is a point worth observing by those who wish to give form and elegance to the daily conduct of life. Ceremony and punctilio can be carried too far, as in India, where the laws governing the manners and practices of the various castes are complicated to an exasperating point. But a society entirely devoid of etiquette is apt to be crude and ungraceful. To draw a line between that ceremonial which makes it a capital offense for a subject to look at the lama of Tibet and the mannerless state of a mining camp is a perfectly possible achievement.

"IN THE MUTUAL WEEKLY" AT THE ARCADE TODAY

In the Mutual Weekly, at the Arcade Theater today not the least interesting event is the fascinating defeat of Barney Oldfield by Earl Cooper, during which he made 100 miles in one hour and 38 minutes. The powder explosion of the Boomer Mines, in which 16 lives were lost. The luncheon tendered the national democratic committee, at the White House, in Washington. The new hydrometer, to be offered the United States government as a military utility, for its preparedness program. The hasty departure of the U. S. cruiser San Diego, for Mexico, to protect the lives of American citizens and many other features, including "Lady Eglantine—the $100,000 champion egg laying Hen." "The Terror of the Fold" is a strong play, in two acts, featuring the Bostock Animals, and should be seen by all the children, being an educational feature.

The show close with a comedy in which the great Broadway favorite, Cissy Fitzgerald, takes the leading part.

"Distinguished."

When a man just naturally looks "different" it's all right. But when a man gets himself up to look "different"—he doesn't. He bears the brand of the ordinary run of asses.—Kansas City Star.

Love and Goul.

Some sensitive, avian, nature-seen born with souls, but most children and youth boast only innocence and joy. Loving comes later—a sweet and fragrant power of the heart, born in gardens where tears are shed. Its coming seems to change the whole outlook upon life, the whole estimate of self. The birth of love seems also to be the birth of fear—not fear for oneself but for the one beloved, and fear's shadow seems ever to rest upon the loving heart; fear that they themselves do not give love enough; fear that their love be not returned; fear that life is not giving the cherished one all that is desired or needed; fear that some evil may befall the child or youth, the man or woman whose head supremely dear. There is fear that distance may remove them, that suffering or death may lay grim hands upon them, and out of these apprehensions of love the soul is born. The life becomes spiritualized by self-sacrifice, brave to defend, eager to give, patient to endure.—Baltimore Sun

LEAVES FIRM TO OLD EMPLOYEES

Publisher Rewards Those Who Helped Build Up Business.

EIGHTY-FIVE ARE BENEFITED

His Secretary, Longest in His Employ.
Gets $30,000, Another Gets $20,000, and Those Who Have Not Been There So Long Smaller Amounts. Composing Room Happy.

The late John A. Hill, head of the Hill Publishing Company, New York, believed with Benjamin Altman that good service extending over many years should be rewarded. Because of his belief two of his oldest employees came to their office the other day to find themselves possessed of a comfortable fortune, and about eighty-five others were notified by a notice tacked on the bulletin board in their locker rooms that they had inherited $1,000 or more from their employer's will.

Mr. Hill's will was admitted to probate in Newark, N. J. Under its terms William W. Mayer, treasurer of the company, receives $25,000 for his twenty-two years' connection with the firm, and Miss Rose Steiner, who was Mr. Hill's private secretary, receives $30,000 for a longer period of service.

The will also allows $2,500 to every employee who has worked in any capacity whatsoever for twenty-five years in Mr. Hill's employ, $2,000 for those who have served twenty years, $1,500 for those who have served fifteen years and $1,000 for those who have served ten years.

All Legacies a Surprise.

"The whole thing was unexpected," said Mr. Mayer. "I can't say how many employees will benefit by it, for not knowing that this was to happen, I have not looked up the records. Mr. Hill made his will several years ago, and he expected to live longer than he did. That is why the provisions were made for the twenty-five and twenty year periods. There are no employees with such a record, as the company is not old enough, but there are about eighty-five who have served from ten to eighteen years."

They are of all sorts and all jobs, these beneficiaries. In point of service and in the amount of her inheritance Miss Steiner comes first. A little, dark, alert woman, she has been Mr. Hill's secretary since he came to New York as editor of the American Machinist more than twenty-five years ago and cast her fortunes with his when he and Angus Sinclair bought the Locomotive Engineer in 1891. She and Mr. Mayer are the only ones remaining of those who became his employees at the time.

Composing Room to Benefit.

The others are for the most part in positions of minor importance, although there are a few of the executives who come under the terms of the will. The great rank and file of the eighty-five are subscription clerks, advertising writers and the like. There is one department that is largely represented, and that is the composing room. It is little more than ten years ago that the big printers' strike hit New York, and Mr. Hill was one of the sufferers. He hired strike breakers to keep going, and practically all of these men stayed permanently, as the business is run as an open shop. John Hill's strike breakers of ten years ago have received an average of $1,000 a year as a bonus for their service through the bequests of the will.

The remainder of the estate is to be held in trust for his wife, Emma B. Hill, and his daughter, Miss Jean Carlisle Hill. The business continues as before. It consists of five trade journals—the Locomotive Engineer, the American Machinist, the Engineering and Mining Journal, the Engineering News and the Coal Age. Mr. Hill died suddenly of apoplexy on Jan. 24.

TROUBLES OF A DEBUTANTE.

New York Nerve Specialists Tells of Ills of Society Girls.

Know the troubles of the New York society girl?

Here they are as described by Dr. Thaddeus Hoyt Ames in a talk at the Academy of Medicine:

"Too much dancing and late hours are the usual excuses put out by the family when a society girl gets nervous prostration, but this is not what the girl herself says when she confides her troubles to a physician.

"She says she is too much dictated to by her parents. She has to get up and go to bed and go out just when her mother says so. She has to wear just what her mother chooses and she has no life, no will of her own.

"Then, too, this society girl has become distracted by the rival claims of young men who have fallen in love with her and wish to marry her."

Didn't Know It Was Loaded.

The old, old plea "didn't know it was loaded" may also apply to the army, according to a Tommy in London from Gallipoli. With an empty kerosene can for a kettle and six Turkish shell cases for a grate a party of Australian soldiers were preparing tea. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion. There were no casualties, but uniforms were ruined and the tea was over. It was one of the Turkish shell cases. They didn't know it was loaded.

PINES' PROPOSAL

By JANE OSBORN.

"Honest, Dave, you've got to give me time," the red-haired advertising manager of the furniture firm of Pins, Pines & Noseworthy was saying to Dave Pines, who had lingered after closing hours of the store to speak to Miss Drew on what he referred to in his note beforehand as a "pressing matter of business."

"You sure did give me a surprise. Why, I'd no more idea that you had taken a fancy to me than that—that we'd sell out of refrigerators in February. If the Morning Bugle was to send over here with the statement that we could double our Sunday advertising space for the same rate as we pay now I wouldn't have been more surprised. Give me time, Dave. When? Oh, let me see. Suppose you wait till after Sunday. I'll take next Sunday to dope it out. No, I can't possibly tell you any sooner. I have thought so little about getting married. I'll have to drop around to see my friends that have gone and done it and see what they have to say about it. Drop in next Monday at about this time, if you're still interested. And, whatever I decide, you and I'll always be good friends, won't we?"

"Say, that was kind o' clever copy, if I do say it, and that idea of yours to leave the chairs and tables on that special sale out in the rain for two nights beforehand just did the business. If they had come over in the Mayflower they couldn't have looked more like the real thing. Oh, that's so, it's Monday. No, I hadn't forgotten—had it down on my desk pad, but I guess I'd have remembered any way.

"Tell you my answer? Well, don't be impatient. Take it slowly, Dave, and then you'll see why I've decided as I have. You'll understand better. You know I wanted to handle the proposition squarely. As I told you it wasn't just an ordinary 'Will you marry me?' when David Pine asked red-head Peg Drew to be junior partner. You know I appreciate the compliment.

"So, I started off Sunday morning to see the girls I went to school with—Aggie Dayton, Pearl Hite, Julie Saunders and Moll Braum. They're all married and I thought they'd give me the dope I was after. And I guess I got it.

"Well, Aggie—I went to her house first. Knew she'd be at home. When a woman has six children and a good-for-nothing husband she doesn't stand much chance of being out on Sunday morning. I was out of breath by the time I got there, four flights up and such a racket! Youngest was cutting his teeth and oldest was yelling because he'd just had to have his baby teeth pulled out. She was mighty glad to see me, though. She hadn't seen any of the girls for years. You know how it is when a girl needs a friend—she usually can't find any. I didn't have to ask her how her marriage had panned out. I tried to cheer her up, though. She had been a good housekeeper once and I asked her why she didn't try this new game of economic independence. If her husband didn't earn enough to get out and earn it herself. But how could a girl like Aggie get out with six children hanging at her apron strings?

"Well, then I went to see Pearl Hite, and do you know I was almost scared to go in. Those butlers in plum-colored uniforms always did make me feel shy. Pearl sent down by her French maid for me to come up. She was having her coffee in her boudoir and, do you know, I hadn't been there ten minutes before she burst out crying and told me all about it. She's miserable. Husband's gone off with a vaudeville tango queen and it's all they can do to keep the scandal out of the papers.

"Next place I went was Julie's, and do you know it wasn't till I had reached her apartment that I knew she'd left her husband, though she said it had been in all the papers. It wasn't that he had done anything. She just couldn't get along with him; says that for a woman of independence and an 'emancipated intellect' marriage is a state of bondage. She said it was stifling her soul. So now she is studying law and says she's going to devote herself to making divorce easier in the state. 'Eventually,' she said, 'marriage will be like any other contract, binding only so long as both parties agree.'

"What about Moll? Oh, didn't I tell you? Poor thing! She seems to have been happy, but you know she married a German—Otto Braum was his name—and when the first reservists were called out he joined his colors in the fatherland, and it was only last month after all these weeks of anxiety that she learned that he had been killed in the trenches. So she's gone over to Berlin to join the Red Cross to try to forget her own misery. Poor Moll! And she used to be so light-hearted.

"You are not going, Dave? Why, you look kind o' disgruntled. You don't think you'll wait for my answer? Well, if that is the way you feel about it. I thought maybe when you heard you would want to go home with me and have the little dinner that Aunt Mandy has been making—real old Virginia chicken and corn bread.

"You see, Dave, after I had heard about those four girls and seen what a failure marriage had been for them I just wanted to try my luck and show folks that marriage is a pretty good invention after all. I've just been dying to tell you all day, Dave, but I wanted to get you guessing."

Aside From That, His Home in Hartlepool Is Destroyed by Germans.

William Gow, chief engineer of the Roper freighter Dromonby of Hartlepool, will go down to posterity as the record breaker near victim. This is what has happened to him thus far:

October, 1914, chief engineer of the Roper freighter Dromonby of Hartlepool; sunk by the German cruiser Kropprinz Wilhelm; taken as a prisoner of war to Newport News; released.

December, 1914, at his home in Hartlepool; his home destroyed by shell fire from the German cruisers during raid.

June, 1915, chief engineer of the Roper freighter Gadsby of Hartlepool; sunk by German submarine U-39 in the week in which twenty-nine other freighters were torpedoed in the North sea; picked up by a trawler after being in the water six hours.

January, 1916, chief engineer of the Roper freighter Dromonby of Hartlepool; sunk by German raider in the bay of Biscay; brought in the prize ship Appam to Newport News.

And now Mr. Gow is returning to Hartlepool to get a berth on some Roper freighter still afloat.

HOW IT FEELS TO DIE.

Going Away Is Pleasant, but Coming Back to Life Is Painful.

When you die everything is just a blank, says Harry Tonis, who was shocked with electricity so badly that he was "dead" for an hour before he was revived by the use of a pulmotor at Cleveland, O.

Tonis stepped on a live wire, and ordinary efforts to revive him failed. His heart had stopped beating, and respiration had ceased for an hour before a pulmotor was applied. Here's what he said about dying when he recovered consciousness at St. Alexis hospital:

"Dying was quick and without pain. Coming back to life was slow and painful. When I stepped on the wire it was like a jolt in the back of my head. It seemed as if millions of needles and pins were shot through me. Then suddenly everything was a blank.

"When I was coming back to life I could hear before I could see. There was a sound like rushing water and a heavy wind.

"The sounds swished back and forth for what seemed ages, and I couldn't drive them away. Then came the realization of pain. Again that pricking as of millions of needles in my flesh. I was hot. My left foot seemed on fire. I knew nothing but pain, and then gradually I could see."

SPECIAL CENSUS OF EL PASO.

Figures Show That the Town Has Had a Wonderful Growth.

A special census of the city of El Paso, Tex., made at local request and expense and taken as of Jan. 15, 1916, shows the population on that date to have been 61,962 within the corporate limits of the city. The increase since April 15, 1910, when the population was 39,279, has been 57.6 per cent.

The present population comprises 32,737 persons of Mexican descent, 27,359 whites other than of Mexican descent, 1,514 negroes, 243 Chinese, 44 Japanese and 5 Indians. The census was taken by local enumerators under the supervision of Emmons K. Ellsworth, an official of the bureau of the census.

In addition to the population above shown, there were in the corporate limits of the city, but not counted as a part of the bona fide population, 7,047 refugees or persons temporarily in El Paso awaiting settlement of conditions in Mexico and 1,703 soldiers. Of the 7,047 refugees there were 6,554 of Mexican descent, 482 white other than of Mexican descent and 11 negroes.

TRAMPS THE BANE OF CITIES IN SOUTH

Campaign Is Begun to Prevent "Passing On" Hoboes.

MAYORS SEEK TO END EVIL.

Scheme Is Evolved Providing For Free Transportation For Transient Poor by Municipalities Provided the Poor Have Relatives, a Job or Other Definite Means of Support.

How the south is planning to prevent the "passing on" of tramps from one city to another, as has been done now for many years, is told in an article sent out by the Survey press service. It is explained that because of this "passing on" policy conditions in a number of cities and towns were becoming unendurable, and at the same time no relief was being given for the evil.

A long step forward in the handling of charitable transportation of tramps and other nonresident poor in seven southeastern states was taken at a convention in Jacksonville, Fla., called by Mayor J. E. T. Bowden of that city. More than 100 mayors and another hundred delegates, representing nearly 150 cities in Florida, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, North Carolina and South Carolina, discussed the "passing on" evil and adopted a model ordinance to solve the problem. Each delegate was pledged to do all in his power to secure the passing of the ordinance in his home city. The complete proceedings of the convention, with a copy of the ordinance, will be sent to more than 500 cities.

Passing It On.

The "passing on" evil has for many years been a problem of particular significance in the south. The mild climate has been partially responsible for the presence of many wandering tramps and "tramp families," and their increase has been encouraged by slipshod methods of issuing free transportation. A few charitable organizations with modern methods have worked under the transportation rules as drawn up by the national conference of charities and correction in 1903. The city of Atlanta, Ga., signed these rules by ordinance in 1906.

But most of the municipalities and smaller relief organizations continued to get rid of their visiting poor by buying them tickets to the next town or the nearest large city—the old familiar method of "passing on." And so the dismal round continued, growing ever worse. Towns and cities became burdened with an increasing number of wandering dependents, who suffered increasing hardship and pauperism from the system. In some communities, due to their geographical position, the conditions became unendurable. Jacksonville, so situated as to be the gateway of Florida, was one of these. Nearly a year ago Barry C. Smith, then secretary of the associated charities in that city, determined that some local action must be taken, and perhaps the co-operation of the entire south be obtained.

As an initial step an ordinance was drawn up and laid before the mayor and city council. No action was taken, but Mayor Bowden showed an earnest interest.

Tramps Trooped In.

Tramp family after tramp family drifted into the city, and the Associated Charities kept the mayor constantly in touch with these concrete instances. Photographs were taken of some of the worst types, reports were secured from other cities and definite proofs of the sending of such dependents to Jacksonville by other cities were secured. Mayor Bowden became convinced that what was true of Jacksonville must be true of other cities and that the remedy lay in the co-operative action of the entire south. Obviously each city on this plan received about as many poor as it sent elsewhere, and there was a great waste of money in shipping folks aimlessly back and forth. The call for the convention followed. The ordinance follows:

"A bill to be entitled an ordinance for the regulation of the transportation of the indigent poor. Be it ordained by the mayor and city council of the city of — that the mayor is hereby directed and authorized to sign for and in the name of the city of — the rules concerning free transportation and charity rates, which have been published by the committee on charitable transportation appointed by the national conference of charities and correction, which said rules are as follows:

Then follows the transportation rules, which provide, chiefly, (1) that free or charity rate transportation be issued only on satisfactory proof that the applicant has at the point of destination (a) legal residence or (b) employment or other definite means of support, or (c) friends or relatives who will agree to provide for him; (2) that such transportation shall be clear through to point of destination, thus prohibiting "passing on" entirely, and (3) that each signer shall co-operate with each other to prevent the aimless sending of dependents about the country.

NINE NEW RAIDERS BUILT BY GERMANS

Fleet Constructed Especially to Prey Upon Commerce.

TWO ARE NOW ON HIGH SEAS

Pass British Battleships Disguised as Innocent Merchantmen—Guns Concealed on Decks—Appam's Passengers Tell of Plot to Retake Ship, but It Was Afterward Abandoned.

Identity of the disguised German ship in the Atlantic which captured the British liner Appam off the Canary islands on Jan. 15 and sent her to Norfolk a German prize of war has been made known by officers of the other British steamships she captured and sank.

These officers went on board the raider and had ample time to look her over from stem to stern. They agreed, as Lieutenant Hans Berg, who took the Appam to Norfolk has insisted, that the captor was the Moewe. But she was not the surveying ship Moewe or any other Moewe known in maritime circles. She was a new freight steamship equipped with guns, and as one of the sailors from her in the detail to the Appam told Mrs. Frank Fisher, wife of the commissioner general of Ashanti, who was an Appam passenger, the raider was one of a fleet of nine such vessels fitted out by the Germans to prey on British merchantmen, two of which already have made their way out of the Kiel canal to the high seas.

Saluted British Warships.

Mrs. Fisher said she talked with this German seaman on the Appam several times and that he confided to her one day about the nine craft, saying that the captor of the Appam made her way to sea on New Year's day and, with a Swedish flag flying, passed and saluted three British war vessels of the North sea fleet.

She was named the Moewe, which is German for seagull, because she was painted white originally and because German craft of that name have been favored by fortune for many years past.

Several of her crew were from the surveying ship Moewe and wore their old hat bands. Others had hat bands marked Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, the North German Lloyd liner, which was sunk on Aug. 26, 1914, off the African coast, near the Canary islands, by the British cruiser Highflyer.

The British officers described her as a new freighter that apparently had been selected for hurried converting into a cruiser, because all her fittings had not been installed, and she could be equipped easily with guns without any ripping away. She may have been the Ponga, a new German ship, they said, as she was the same size and had a lifeboat with the name Ponga on its bow.

A Vessel of 6,500 Tons.

They described her as about a 6,500-ton vessel, with a large coal capacity as well as fittings for fruit carrying, so that she was designed for roving and would have been classed as a tramp. She had one funnel and two masts. There was no warship construction about her except the supports for the gun bases, which had been riveted roughly into her frames.

She carried five fifteen-centimeter guns, or about six inch ones. Four were installed forward, two on either side and one aft. Those forward were set low on the deck and hidden by wooden shields that lifted up beside them like trapdoors, and with a cover on them appeared like nothing more harmful than a well stowed forward deck load of freight.

Her holds were filled with coal and supplies enough for her to remain at sea as long as two months without replenishing. None of her foodstuffs was given to the Appam though, and there was a shortage of food on the British liner. There was no suffering, but during the last four days on the voyage across the Atlantic from the Canaries to Norfolk those aboard her had nothing but rice and cheese to eat. Lieutenant Berg ate this with the rest of his crew and his captives. He even permitted Captain Harrison of the Appam to retain his seat at the center table in the saloon.

Quickly Suppresses Plot.

Both the Appam's passengers and the officers from the sunken ships admitted that a plot brewed on the Appam to overpower Lieutenant Berg and the German sailors of the prize crew with him, but the German officer calmly warned every one not to start anything. He pointed to the bombs he had placed about the Appam and explained how he had wired them all to the bridge so that they could all be set off from there by a mere throwing of a switch with his fingers.

He said he had made up his mind if a British cruiser overtook the Appam he would signal to her that he had many British subjects on board and that if she interfered with him he would set off the bombs.

"I'll go with you," he said quietly and firmly, but without a bit of bravado. Then he added, "Nothing would make me surrender this ship to the British."

Prior to this the Appam's passengers had prayed that a British vessel would appear and rescue them. After that they prayed that no British gunners would find them.

Pretty Good Sort of Man.

If a man has a reasonable amount of diligence, is willing to tote square with his neighbors and help along his faltering comrades on the way, and has courage and philosophy enough to endure a fair amount of trouble without belly-aching about it all the time, he is pretty apt to make the schedule through this vale of tears without destroying the plan of salvation.—Houston Post.

Good Deeds Have Reward.

Never did any soul do good, but it came readier to do the same again, with more enjoyment. Never was love, or gratitude, or bounty practiced but with increasing joy, which made the practitioner still more in love with the good path.

ORMOND GUESTS CATCH MANY FISH

HOTEL ORMOND, Ormond Beach, March 3.—Mr. and Mrs. John Russell Gladding, of Providence, R. I., left the Ormond hotel yesterday morning for Thompson's Creek, on an all day fishing trip and picnic, taking their luncheon with them. Mr. Gladding caught nine channel bass and Mrs. Gladding six. The fish were broiled and fresh coffee made, and both Mr. and Mrs. Gladding say it was the most delicious luncheon they ever ate. They are so pleased with the trip that they propose repeating it very soon.

Today, Mr. F. J. Foot, of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Tory and Mrs. Chapin are going on a trolling and still fishing trip to the Inlet.

Mrs. Harry V. Stilwell, of Philadelphia, arrived yesterday noon, and is occupying her little bungalow, "Fitzgerald," on the river front. All her friends at the Ormond are very glad to welcome her back.

The great baseball game of the season takes place today between the Ormond guests and the regular Ormond nine, and many and great are the preparations for the same.

Mrs. George M. Pullman is entertaining Mrs. B. W. Carrier, of Lynn, Mass., at "The Casements."

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Ingalls and Miss Helen Ingalls, have joined the Lynn colony at the Ormond for several weeks' stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Lisle, of Providence, are registered at the Ormond.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ackerman and Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Harris, of New York City, are stopping at the Ormond.

Mrs. E. H. Reynolds, of Chicago, Ill., is registered at the Ormond.

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Wilson, of Jacksonville, Fla., Hon. and Mrs. W. A. Blount, and Miss Miriam C. Blount, of Pensacola, Fla., have arrived at the Ormond for a short stay.

Miss Louise Holloway, of Macon, Ga., is stopping at the Ormond.

Miss Gwynn Kavanaugh, Staten Island, N. Y., has arrived at the Ormond.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Abbott, Westford, Mass., is registered at the Ormond.

Mrs. Frank B. Probst, of Englewood, N. J., has joined her mother and sisters for the rest of the season at the Ormond.

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Nelson, of New York City, were very warmly welcomed last night by their many friends at the Ormond.

Mrs. Roger Lamson, Jr., and Mrs. Wm. Smallum, of New York City, are stopping at the Ormond.

Edwin W. Ingalls, a newspaper man from Boston, is at the Ormond. Mr. Ingalls, speaking of politics the other day, remarked that he was glad to see signs in Florida that some of the republican national convention delegates were likely to vote for Senator John W. Weeks, of Manchester, for presidential candidate. "It does seem odd," said Mr. Ingalls, "to think of a Massachusetts man for president, but John Weeks is a national character and will have more support than New England will give him in the next order south. He started his life work as a land surveyor in Florida; is a graduate of Annapolis Naval academy, and he did the principal work in the senate toward perfecting the Federal Reserve banking law. He has always been a tower of strength in house and senate, and Florida will do well to support a trained man of business like John Weeks."

"We need a man with just such a training in the presidential chair. Theory and speculation in public places, should give way to logical training, for the welfare of the country. We must prepare industrially before we can be ready to defend ourselves."

Fear to Hear the Cricket.

It is regarded as a death warning in some parts of Germany to hear a cricket sing.

Communism.

Communism is a theory almost as old as history. As far back as authentic records take us we find certain men advocating the possession of all things in common. No nation as yet, however, has ever been placed upon such theory as a foundation.

Shall Women Propose?

Of course women should propose. It is women who change their entire lives by matrimony; it is women who take on colossal responsibility by matrimony. The woman should surely be allowed to choose the man for whom she feels herself able to work and give. Men propose; men have had it all in their own hands up to now, and if they have married the wrong woman they have only themselves to blame for it. —Women of the World.

In Mexican Houses.

There are rarely fireplaces or stoves in Mexican houses. Of course, in the tropics these are not required, but in the cities of the uplands it is often bitterly cold. There is a popular belief that warming the air of a room by artificial heat in the rarefied air of the uplands induces pneumonia, but it is doubtful if this has any real foundation. And the Mexican prefers to shiver under cover of a poncho rather than to sit in comfort and warmth after the European or American fashion.

Asia's Comanches.

Unlike the maritime peoples of the west of Europe, the Slavs had no easement from the colonizing of the new world. When the era of machinery dawned, they were not able, as were the English, the French and the Germans, to get into the sunshine by catering to the world's demand for cheap manufactured goods. Moreover, they have had to bear the brunt of oriental onslaught. The South Slavs, or Serbs, Bulgarians, Herzegovina and Macedonia fell under those Comanches of Asia, the Turks.

U. S. an Old Nation.

The United States of America is one of the oldest nations on earth. With the exception of England and Russia it is, as a present nation, older than any country in Europe. And alone in the Western world, it has stood for the past 125 years with an unchanged government. Its boundaries have expanded and its constitution has been amended and it has gone through Civil war; but the United States is "ruled" today as it was ruled in 1789, and it is the only Western nation that is.

His Intention.
"Being of no further use on earth," said Gaunt N. Grimm, "having grown thoroughly tired of trying to convince fools of their errors, feeling sure that none of the said fools will regret my departure any more than I should theirs under similar circumstances, and being as ready to go as I'll ever be, I shall now eat the large hunk of wedding cake that my niece has sent me."—Kansas City Star.

His Sad State.
"My Uncle Festus is in a deplorable condition," related Maudlin Aiorosa. "He has such sinister symptoms and so many of them that he is firmly convinced that he is being hurried to the tomb by a serious malady, but just what it is he don't know. You see, he got hold of a patent medicine almanac giving a long list of symptoms which he at once recognized as being the very ones that he himself was entertaining, although he wouldn't have known he had 'em if he hadn't read it there in uncompromising black and white. And then he found to his horror that the next page, giving the name of the awful disease which caused those symptoms was torn out. So now he knows beyond the peradventure of a doubt that there is something terrible the matter with him, but can't determine what it is."

EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

SECOND EVENING OF THE DICKEN'S CARNIVAL

The second evening of the Dicken's carnival at the Palmetto club was very successful and was largely attended by the members of the club and their friends. A great variety of Dicken's story characters were splendidly portrayed, no two being alike. Many of the costumes worn by the ladies are very old, as well as the hats which complete the make-ups.

The special program opened with a reading of the "Christmas Carol," by Mrs. Henry Mitchell, beautifully given in her sweet, well-modulated voice, describing the Christmas dinner of the "Cratchett" family. This was followed by a tableau of the Cratchett family seated before the fire, after having partaken of their dinner, and "Tiny Tim," in his thin, small voice, asking "God Bless Us All."

This was followed by a performance given by the "Magic Family," finely done by Robert Crippen, of Columbus, O., under the direction of Mrs. Celeste Hinks, to whom a great deal of praise is due for their splendid efforts to amuse their audience, as well as charm them.

"The Marionettes," announced as from the Hippodrome, New York, were shining lights. "The Marionettes" were three of Daytona's popular society girls, the Misses Daisy and Cecelia Schmadeke and Marguerite Edwards. They performed in a most pleasing manner, and responded to an encore. Much credit is due Mrs. E. H. Hotchkiss for her efforts in making this so pleasing and pretty, as well as entirely different.

The Dicken's characters were then introduced to the audience by W. E. Hitchcock, who characterized Mr. Boffin himself. Each character coming upon the stage, one by one, was formally announced and, after a pretty courtesy, retired.

The next number, also under the direction of Mrs. Hotchkiss, "The Bowerly Girl," with Alice Green as the "Bowerly Girl," and John Osborne, as the theatrical manager, was very good, and caused a great deal of merriment. They closed their number with a good interpretation of the Spanish tango and were well applauded.

A tableau made up of the characters of "Our Mutual Friend," in Boffin's Bower, each of the characters strengthening his portrayal by a short quotation, closed the program.

The carnival which is under the supervision of the civic department of the club, has proven to be one of the most interesting and unique features of of the winter's society events. The carnival will close tonight with a gorgeous Dicken's ball which will be held in the Casino Burgoyne.

THIS is to tell the People, that Goodrich "BARE-FOOT-RUBBER" Value lies not in its COLOR but in its composition.

It lies in the especially devised Texture, Flexibility, Cling-quality, Stretch, Lightness and Resilience of that "Barefoot Rubber" which, through years of Research, WE developed to match the marvellous Flexibility, Resilience and Power-conservation of our two-layer-Cord "Silvertown" Tires.

Color alone would have been little help in making "Silvertown" Treads stand up in the tremendous ENDURANCE Tests which the 100-Mile-per-hour-Races of 1915 provided.

And Color alone,—Black, White, Red, or Gray—can do little for the Consumer who buys a "Me-too" Black-Tread Tire, of imitated make, on the assumption that all Black-Tread Tires are likely to be made of same materials.

THE marvellous "Barefoot Rubber" now used in Goodrich FABRIC Tires (as well as in Goodrich "Silvertowns") is black only because we elected that color, primarily for distinction and association with our SILVERTOWN CORD Tires.

When, therefore, the usual crop of "flattering" Imitations sprouts upon the Market DON'T assume that OTHER Black-Tread Tires have in them the "BARE-FOOT-RUBBER" which made the enormous ENDURANCE of Silvertown Cord Tires possible in the 90 to 103 Mile-per-hour Races of 1914-15.

No Tires on the Market, Size for Size, and Type for Type, are LARGER than Goodrich, and none more generously good, at any price.

"Barefoot Rubber" is now made into Goodrich FABRIC Tires,—Goodrich "Silvertown Tires,"—Goodrich Inner Tubes,—Goodrich Truck Tires,—Goodrich Motor Cycle Tires,—Goodrich Bicycle Tires,—and Goodrich Rubber Boots, Overshoes, Soles and Heels.

Get a sliver of it from your nearest Goodrich Dealer or Branch.

Note (by comparison), the reasonably-low Fair-List prices at which these best-possible Fabric Tires are being sold, on a BUSINESS basis.

GOODRICH —"BAREFOOT" Tires

Friends were at the railway station Friday afternoon to greet Mrs. Z. H. Lassiter, nee Faxie Keller, who was on her way from her home in Selma, Ala., to visit her mother, Mrs. J. C. Keller, and other relatives in Miami. She was accompanied by her young son and daughter, Jack and little Amelia Lassiter. Mrs. Lassiter, who at one time resided here with her parents and other members of the family, has not been in Daytona for nearly ten years. She had expected to stop here for awhile on her way to Miami, but changed her plans, and will, instead, visit friends here on her way home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dillon, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Heath at Holly Hill since the beginning of the year, departed this morning on the return to their home in London, Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Dillon received more reassuring word, Friday, in regard to the wounding of their son, Lieutenant Arnold Dillon, of the Canadian service, who was on the fighting line in France. The young officer is in one of the English hospitals in France, but will be transferred to England where his wife is awaiting him. Mrs. Dillon is Mr. Heath's sister and has frequently visited Mr. and Mrs. Heath, as have also other members of the family, including Lieutenant Dillon.

Every day is summer in Daytona.
